

Thinking. Ahead.

Every day, American Management Corporation offers forward thinking to help others achieve their business goals. Our 60-year history includes program business and commercial lines E&S underwriting, claims administration and risk engineering – while listening, thinking and acting as if our clients' businesses were our own. That has helped us grow into a highly respected national managing general agency, offering protection for thousands of companies across the country. And we can do it for you too – experience the power of a true partner.
